Sub-strand 2.3: Preparing Animal Products: Eggs and Honey

Instructions: Answer all questions, providing detailed explanations where necessary.

Section A: Multiple Choice Questions (Choose the best answer)

Question Number	Question	Answer	Explanation
1	Which of the following is a step in preparing eggs for use and storage?	B) Sorting	Sorting is a crucial preparatory step for eggs, involving grouping them by size and quality. Frying, boiling, and mashing are methods of cooking or processing, not preparation for storage.
2	Grading of eggs primarily involves:	B) Separating them based on size and quality.	Grading is the process of classifying eggs according to established standards of size, weight, and internal and external quality. This is done for commercial purposes to ensure uniform product quality for consumers.
3	The crushing and straining	C) Honey	The crushing and straining method is a