SECTION A: MULTIPLE CHOICE QUESTIONS (MCQ) – 20 MARKS

LISTENING PASSAGE (LONG TEXT):

"Good morning, students. Today, I will talk about the importance of conserving Kenya's forests. First, Kenya has over 700,000 hectares of forest cover, which helps in preserving biodiversity. Also, forests provide timber and firewood for local communities. Moreover, forests protect water catchment areas that supply water to rivers and dams. An important note: illegal logging and charcoal burning have reduced forest cover in many regions. For example, the Mau Forest Complex has faced serious deforestation. Similarly, community groups like the Green Belt Movement organize tree planting campaigns to restore degraded forests. However, some people continue to cut trees for quick money, which threatens wildlife and reduces rainfall. Therefore, everyone must participate in forest conservation to protect our environment."
