D. SIMPLE DISTILLATION.

- Distillation is the process of separation of mixtures where one substance evaporates and leaves the other in the container.
- The substance that evaporates later condenses and is collected in another container.
- Distillation method is used to separate solids that dissolves in liquids.

  E.g Salt + water.