

iv) They provide scholarships, funding for education, and skills transfer to African communities.
v) Support of local tourism, cultural industries, and technology through diaspora-led enterprises.
vi) Diasporans create employment opportunities for local populations through investments.

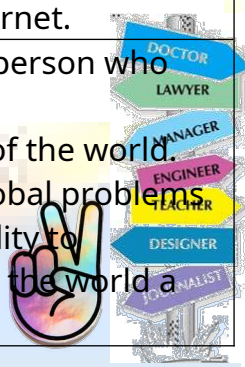

Sub-strand 5.5: Citizenship

(Globalization)

Instructions: Choose the best answer for each question.

QUESTION NUMBER	QUESTION	ANSWER	EXPLANATION
1	Interconnectedness among countries in the world today means that:	B) Events and actions in one country can affect others globally.	Interconnectedness is the state of being connected with each other. It means that what happens in one part of the world, like a financial crisis or a pandemic, can quickly affect people and places far away.
2	Interdependence among countries implies that nations:	B) Rely on each other for goods, services, resources, or solutions to shared problems.	Interdependence is a mutual reliance. No country is completely self-sufficient; they rely on others for trade, technology, and to solve global challenges like climate change.
3	Which of the following is a positive effect of globalization?	C) Increased access to diverse goods, services, and information.	Globalization breaks down barriers, making it easier for people to get products from different countries, learn about different cultures, and access information from around the world via the internet.
4	A key quality of a global citizen in modern society is:	B) Awareness and understanding of global issues and a sense of responsibility towards humanity.	A global citizen is a person who understands the interconnectedness of the world. They are aware of global problems and feel a responsibility to contribute to making the world a better place.

©COMPETENCE KENYA