Achol was a Grade 3 learner and she loved mangoes. One day, she ate a big ripe mango at home. The next day, she carried the mangoe seed to school. She then carefully planted the seed in the school garden.

Every day after school, Achol watered the seedling. She removed weeds around it. Some of her classmates laughed at her.

After many months, the seedling grew into a big tree. It had many green leaves. The teacher was very happy. He praised Achol for her hard work on the seedling.

Achol's classmates learned an important lesson. Good things come with patience, hard work, and care for the environment.
